Our values

About us

Saltwater provides customized engineering solutions for the naval and offshore industry. Understanding your challenges enables us to deliver practical, quality products and clever solutions.

By working closely with clients, we gain a clear picture of the operational demands, safety standards, and environmental conditions that shape each project.

Our team combines industry expertise with innovative thinking to design, develop, and optimize equipment that performs in the toughest maritime environments. From concept and prototyping to production and ongoing support, we focus on delivering solutions that enhance performance, improve safety, and reduce downtime. The result is dependable engineering that supports long-term success both at sea and offshore.
